

her name, 2024

Hand painted name on canvas and produced like a multiple but not by mechanical reproduction. The idea of a unique art object continues to exist but with the life of many hands participating in creative collective solidarity. This work will continue to be reproduced by others who will make more paintings in my name for the sake of an artwork. The multiplication of this production will eventually erase the artists' name as it absorbs multiple subjectivities for the sole purpose of making a connection to reach another towards a global realisation of resistance.

“Perhaps resistance means opposition to being invaded, occupied, assaulted and destroyed by the system. The purpose of resistance here, is to seek the healing of yourself in order to be able to see clearly...I think that communities of resistance should be places where people can return to themselves more easily, when the conditions are such that they can heal themselves and recover their weakness.”
